THE NEW TROPIC

😑 Calle Ocho? More like Calle no-show

Plus, the rent's gotten a little cheaper and the latest on Elon 'Mole Man' Musk's Miami plans.

By Zach Schlein

Hello there — against all odds, it is somehow already Wednesday.

They say nothing lasts forever, which can be a good or bad thing depending on how you process it. The pandemic? Please, please let it be over already. The cold climes that made navigating this historic moment more bearable? Well, we knew those wouldn't be sticking around for long… but it doesn't make the return of lows in the 70s any easier. ☹️

In any case, picturesque-weather or not, we hope you're still finding ways of (safely) leaving the house and seizing the day. And speaking of the day, here are some developments to help yours get started…

🌠 Sit under the stars with your special someone and enjoy a performance by Spaniard songstress BITA at Fairchild Gardens (Coral Gables)

deepsleep STUDIO